SEARCH DOGS

Over the past years the world has seen a dramatic increase in the use of explosives for the purpose of causing harm to both military and civilian personnel. Britannia Security's specialist Explosive Search Dog Teams have been at the forefront of countering this very real threat.

Britannia Security's Explosive Search Teams can be used in a wide range of areas to neutralize the threat of an explosives based attack. Entry point checks, vehicle sweeps, and building searches can be performed as often as necessary to give you and your people the peace of mind necessary to perform their day to day duties without fear. Having Explosive Search Teams on hand has also been a proven deterrent in past conflicts. Knowing that a highly trained search dog stands in the way will often prove effective in dissuading an act of aggression.

The Handlers we employ for Explosive Detection primarily come from prior Military or Law Enforcement backgrounds. These are personnel with proven track records who are capable of achieving their objectives regardless of the challenges that are presented.

The canines used for Explosives Detection go through a rugged series of tests designed through years of experience to test their abilities to the limit. Our canines have continuously demonstrated their ability to operate in a multitude of environments. Most recently our teams have contributed to the security of the London 2012 Olympics as well as TV events such as Big Brother.

CLOSE PROTECTION

Britannia Security's Close protection officers (CPOs), are highly dedicated individuals who are trained to protect clients (known as principals) from deliberate attack, accidents or unwanted attention.

Britannia Security's CPOs work for people in the public eye, including royalty, foreign dignitaries, politicians, high-profile business people, legal professionals and celebrities. All of our CPOs are trained in defensive and evasive driving. Their duties include:

- > Protecting the principal from threats of physical violence.
- > Checking our premises before the principal arrives.
- > Installing surveillance equipment.
- > Accompanying the principal on business and social trips.
- > Driving the principal to and from venues.

Offering 24-hour protection means that this is rarely a weekday nine-to-five job. It can involve early starts, potentially lots of traveling, maybe abroad, and late nights. Some of our CPOs work in hostile countries.

EVENT SECURITY

Whether deployed independently or as part of a wider personal security service, our professionally trained door supervisors ensure that each client receives a respectable, reliable and punctual service.

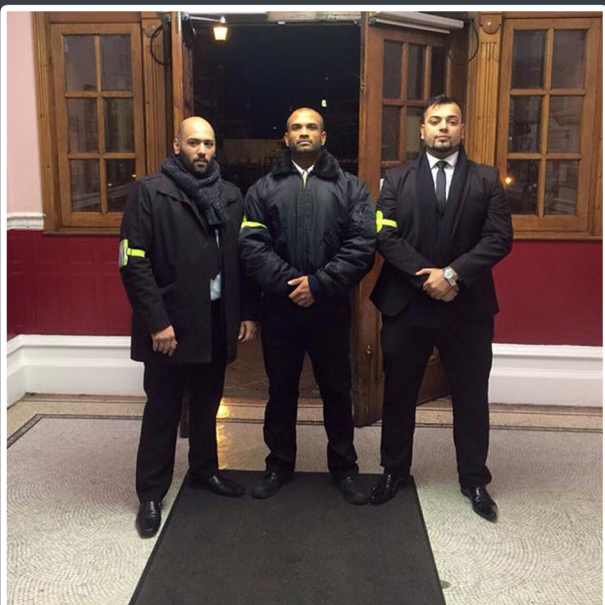

As door supervision modifies under recent legislation, Britannia Security is conscious to ensure that all its door supervisors are compliant, courteous and professional within a venue. Britannia has the capability to provide door supervision for all occasions, many staff being trained by our own in house training dept.

Our door supervisors are first aid qualified and able to work effectively, safely and professionally in all venues. Selected for their ability to communicate and take a lead role in pro-active prevention, you will soon discover that the right balance of staff is possible.

Britannia provides security operatives to a number of music events, TV and exhibitions each year.
